

Chemical Reactions

In this section, I will

- learn that a chemical reaction takes place when substances react to form one or more new substances
- identify people who use science around me and describe how they use it
- describe the use of science where I live

Thinking cap

I wonder what will happen if I mix two substances together...

A change occurs and a new substance is formed. This is called a chemical reaction.