

Comprehension Assessment Focus Points for Non-Chronological Reports

In the past week, we have been studying non-chronological reports and their features. In preparation for the upcoming comprehension assessment, students are advised to focus on the following points.

1. How a non-fiction text is organized to make the information easy for the reader to read (booklet 1 p. 118)
2. The purpose of subheadings within the text (booklet 1 p. 118)
3. Techniques used by the writer to grab the reader's attention in non-fiction writing (booklet 1 p. 118)
4. Features of a non-chronological report (booklet 1 p. 118)
5. The use of bullet points (booklet 2 p. 1)
6. Connectives used to add an idea (booklet 2 p. 1)

Please review the following materials in preparation:

- Page 118 from Booklet 1
- Pages 2 to 5 from Booklet 2
- Comprehension Practice 6, 7, 8 and 9