

4. Olivia makes a model of the water cycle.

She places the model under the hot Sun.

After a few hours, Olivia observes that water collects in the small container.

1. The heat of the lamp evaporated the water in the large container.

2. The water vapour touches the cold surface of the plastic sheet and condenses turning into water droplets.

3. The tiny water droplets get big and fall into the small container.